

eWorld Delegate Testimonials

"A very good way to sit back, look and listen to who's doing what and going where, and consider your own strategic approach to Procurement."

Michael Bennett, Senior Procurement Specialist (Indirects), Afton Chemical

"There's always something fresh, empowering and applicable to take away."

Shatu Mbursa-Mshelbwala, Procurement Officer, St Mungo's

"Very good organised event; extremely helpful on key trends."

Thomas Goddard, Business Assignments - Outplacement Programme, LHH

"I found the eWorld Procurement and Supply event exciting, it gave me pause for thought on solutions on Tail End Spend, one of my, I'm sure many other Procurement Professionals feel the same, hard to control and time consuming segments of the purchasing arena. I found the discussions on Brexit enlightening and constructive, so much so that I have suggested we put a Brexit Forum together to monitor and keep the business informed on all aspects of the potential effects it could have on us in the future."

Bonnie Martlew, Purchasing Manager, CooperVision Manufacturing Ltd

Very interesting topics and materials, the event was managed smoothly and professionally - a good platform to network or share new ideas in the industry.

Muniza Murtaza, Executive, PASD

"I found the eWorld Procurement and Supply event to be extremely informative and well attended. Lots of topical debate by key industry leaders who were willing to give time providing good advice and direction. A must for the calendar moving forward!"

Mark Luxford, Senior Consultant, RBW Consulting LLP

"As trainers in procurement, it was a great opportunity to see what is currently happening and what lies around the corner, as we like to keep our courses fresh, up to date and relevant and above all useful."

Rosamund Howard, Director, Counterpoint Courses Ltd

"Great event if you want to benchmark your organisation and procurement programs like SRM or risk management vs other important players on the market. Unique occasion for stimulating discussions."

Jaroslaw Plewniok, Category Specialist - Maintenance Services, NSG Pilkington

"I got what I required in a cost effective manner"

Ashley Cooke, Founder, Ashca Ltd

"I found the event informative and useful. As a new starter to the industry, it was great to see what people are doing to innovate and push the industry forwards."

Edward Gamble, Sourcing Specialist, BP

"This was a thought provoking day with something to offer to the first timer from a finance background (me) and the established procurement specialists (I met in the lunch interval)."

Ian Smith, Finance Director, Invu Services Limited

"An enjoyable way to meet and greet fellow Procurement Professionals as potential clients and suppliers. The sessions were short and to the point which meant I was not bored and absorbed what I needed to know quickly and... I did not come back with a bag of literature and pens, just contacts and opportunities."

Gee Rook, BPO Procurement Consultant, Steria

"The food was fantastic and I especially appreciated the bacon roll in the morning; that alone will have me attending the Autumn conference."

Adrian Stobie, Deputy Director of Procurement, Hertfordshire Partnership University Foundation Trust

"This event is unique in providing the combination of case studies from thought-leading procurement organisations and multi-supplier insight into solution technology. The range of seminars is excellent, and usually absolutely on-trend. To add to all that, it's free to delegates. What more could you want?"

Michael Bennett, Senior Procurement Specialist, Afton Chemical Ltd

"The only opportunity to meet procurement specialist software suppliers back to back!"

Cristian Martin, Procurement & Contracts Officer, Commonwealth Secretariat

"This is a very useful event, allowing one to open their minds to purchasing procedures while networking with individuals from a wide range of organisations. Your way to saving your business thousands could be at the next eWorld Purchasing & Supply event."

Dafydd Stock, Senior Buyer, National Physical Laboratory

"Was a great day, very insightful and worth the time spent out of the office."

Sean Gallivan, Overheads Procurement Lead, JTI

"I recommend the event to any procurement professional who likes to learn views and best practices from procurement experts from different industries."

Ivan Blazina, Group Purchasing Director, Anglo-Eastern Ship Management Ltd

"A well planned and executed event that helped me to understand the options available and the way the eSourcing world is evolving"

Ronnie Allen, Project Manager, John Lewis Partnership

"The pre-event organisation, registration and delegate tagging plus the handy event guide meant everything was very simple for delegates, helped make effective use of time and was very professional."

Nichola McGee, Commercial Manager, HM Revenue & Customs

"Overall good quality of speakers and exhibitors."

Beena Pradhan, Procurement Assistant, Royal Borough of Windsor & Maidenhead

"I truly enjoyed the conference. It was very informative. The instructors were very enthusiastic and approachable, the materials valuable and the structure well organised."

Kamal Chrifi, Transport Esourcing Specialist; Global Procurement, Ceva Logistics

"I would not do this wonderful event justice in such a testimonial."

Ray Harford, Symantec Strategic Sourcing, Symantec

"From the beginning to the end this was a very organised event, bringing together exceptional speakers and key suppliers to our industry."

Teresa Chappell, Senior Consultant Vendor Solutions & Procurement, AXA Technology Services

"I was as stated earlier a bit disappointed with the seminar, however I did get something out of it... - Better understanding of market prices. - Validation that we have chosen the right IT solution. - A good conversation about negotiation tactics and Category Management. - An absolutely great keynote start-up presentation."

Patrick Jonsson, Sourcing Manager, DT Group

"E-World is a very good cross industry view of the world or e-Sourcing, which is not biased in terms of specific industry software providers such as Ariba. etc. This is a more Sourcing Leader grounded show that is Ariba Live, which tend to be very supplier focussed and biased."

Ray Anderson, E-sourcing Specialist, BP Group

"Good event really found the seminars I attended useful"

Brian D'mello, Procurement Manager, British Council

"The Sessions I attended were informative, current and very well executed."

Sara Hollingbee, Best Practice Manager – Procurement, Post Office Ltd

"eWorld 2013 was an excellent view onto what's new today and informing decisions for tomorrow"

Paul Chadwick, Business Change Manager, Sanctuary Housing Association

"A great opportunity to meet all of the key e-sourcing players in place at one time. All the advantages of using e-sourcing can also apply to this event"

Euan McGilvray, e-Sourcing Manager, Home Retail Group

"I find the eWorld Purchasing and Supply conference invaluable as it keeps me up to speed with what is going on in my profession and is a must for all procurement people who take their profession seriously."

Trevor Black, Procurement Professional, Blackwolds Consultancy Ltd

"Another useful and insightful opportunity to glimpse the future of purchasing and supply."

Neil Dickens, Commercial & Financial Data Manager, House of Commons

"The opening keynote was possibly one of the best I have ever heard at any conference I have been to"

Kate Graefe, Head of Strategic Procurement, Ealing Council

"eWorld is an excellent opportunity to review the current practices and technology in procurement."

John Marriott, Procurement Manager, Anchor

"I recommend eWorld Purchasing & Supply Forum as a place, where each open minded professional from Purchasing Business should participate."

Ms Grub-Malinowska, Purchasing Director

"Information provider's sessions and stands were most valuable in demonstrating a growing opportunity for procurement functions to use such capabilities to gain insight and manage risks with global suppliers and markets."

Stephen Matthews, Director, SMA Limited

"I thought it was an excellent forum with good short seminars / workshops that were both relevant and focused."

Mark Thompson, Head of UK Procurement Ricardo UK Ltd
